

The Sol I. Berg Suit Special at $14.50 Has Proven So Attractive That the Demand Has Practically Exhausted First Supply, So We Have Added Another Big Lot to This Special

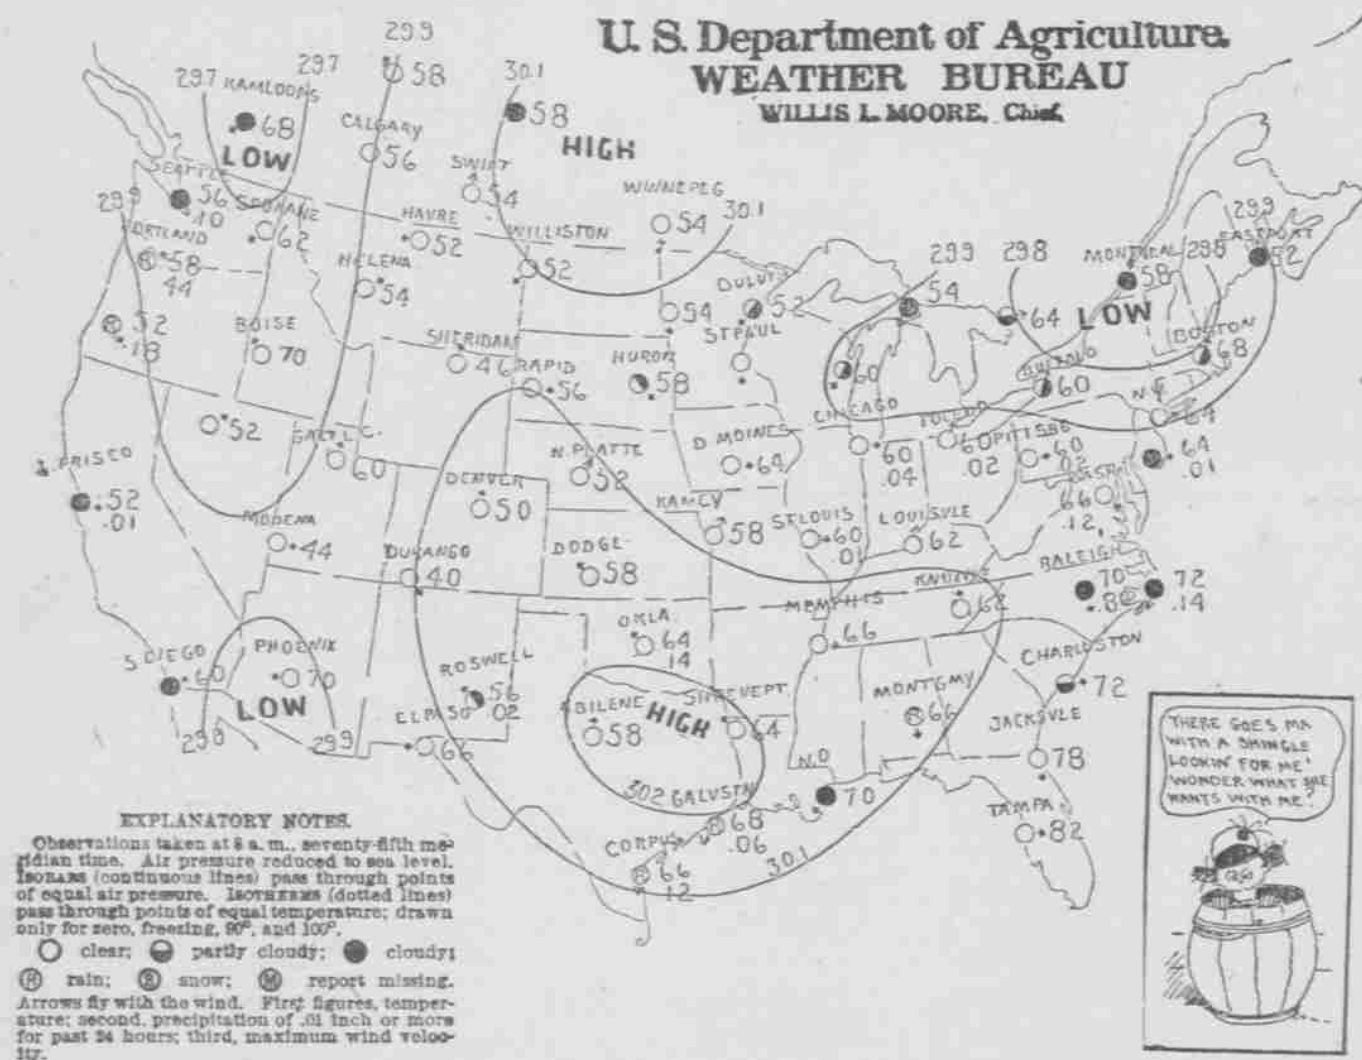

WE could tell you a whole lot in favor of these suits, but we prefer that you come and see the styles on display in the window. Then, we feel sure that you will come in and see if you can find your fit in this remarkable lot of summer suits.

FRIDAY SPECIAL

Tomorrow morning we will place on sale 100 dozen imported English tubular wash ties. These come in a wide variety of patterns and are guaranteed absolutely fast color. They are wearable on both sides. For Friday at

2 TIES FOR 25c

Now get busy on this bargain.

REGISTRATION BILL PASSES SENATE

Lamar Cobb Is Appointed State Engineer by Governor Hunt.

INSIDE FACTS ABOUT THE SENATE SUICIDE

Phoenix, Ariz., June 20.—The registration bill was passed by the senate today and the primary bill still is in conference. A feature of the session was a fight to prevent the passage of a bill providing the submission of the constitutional amendment to annual emergency clause of the constitution. Senator Wood, of this county, charged the supporters of the bill with trying to square themselves with constituents for the repudiation of the referendum principle early in the regular session.

When an effort to lay the bill on the table was defeated Davis also of this county offered woman suffrage amendment as substitute but president Cuffit declared it out of order. Then the point was raised that the emergency amendment did not come under the governor's call. Cuffit did not decide the point and the bill by a majority of one, was sent to its third reading.

Today Governor Hunt sent to the senate the name of Lamar Cobb to be state engineer. Cobb is a resident of Clifton and was a candidate for the nomination for congress on the Democratic ticket.

Hunt Signs Bills.
Governor Hunt today signed 14 bills, including the bank controller bill, pure food bill, tax levy bill, juvenile court bill and a bill creating the office of state engineer. Others provided for appropriations for various offices and departments. A large number of petitions was received today at the office of secretary of state asking for a vote on the woman suffrage amendment. It is practically certain this proposition will be voted on at the coming election.

Hunt signed other bills, as follows: Providing for a meter inspector; appropriating money for salary to pay the governor's secretary; appropriation for a board of health; appropriation to pay for printing the session laws; a bill taxing surety companies; a bill forbidding collection of court fees from state and county; a bill providing for a tax commission or corporation commission, and a bill making appropriation for a land commission.

An attempt was made last night to rush through the senate, under a suspension of the rules, a new bill providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment extending the referendum to the emergency law. Under the constitution, the bills passed by a two-thirds vote and carrying emergency clauses become immediately operative and are not subject to a veto by the electorate.

The proposed amendment, which is contained in the bill bearing the name of senator Kinney, of Gila county, would permit the law to become immediately operative, but would permit its annulment any time by a vote of the people.

Senator Davis, of this county, made a fight against the bill and prevented its immediate consideration, so it went over until today.

A bill was introduced in the house which provides that church and lodge corporations be exempt from the provisions of the law providing for the payment of an incorporation fee.

A new bill in the senate, which was passed under a suspension of the rules, relieves the clerk of the board of control of a part of his duties and transfers them to the auditor and treasurer.

Governor Hunt has signed bills as follows: Providing an appropriation for a land commission; providing that no fees shall be charged against state, county and corporation commission or tax commission in cases to which they are parties; for the collection of tax from surety companies; appropriation for state board of health and registrar of vital statistics; appropriation to pay the salary of the governor's secretary; to provide for meter inspection. A new bill was introduced in the house exempting church and lodge property from taxation, also the appointment of W. L. Plunkett, state examiner, was confirmed by the senate. No bills were passed in either house.

House for Senate Suicide Bill.
It is only just now, but it is none the less interesting for having been delayed, that the real motive behind the "senate suicide" bill, as it is popularly known, or in other words the bill providing for a constitutional amendment providing for the abolition of the upper house of the legislature, has come to light. And the facts have become known through the revelations made by two members of that august body.

The men back of the bill, it must be explained, are senators Worsley and Roberts, who, with senator Slims, who, with Roberts, is from Coconino county, and senators H. R. Wood and M. G. Cunniff, of Yavapai county, here is the story:

The only man who has been open and above board in giving his real reason for supporting the bill is Worsley. Worsley calls himself a Democrat, but he believes in government ownership, the community of interest idea, and all the other socialistic notions, including the abolition of senators. But with the other senators it is different.

The scheme is not, in fact, a scheme to abolish the senate, except in name. Under the plan there would be simply a legislature, consisting of one house; and the plan is to send out all the so-called weaker members of the lower body and substitute in their stead the "brighter" intellects of the upper branch, meaning the men back of the senate bill. These men, it is stated on the highest possible authority, have planned to be elected to the legislature and to control the legislative affairs of the state when there should be but one house.

These were their private arguments, though as a matter of course these were not the arguments used when the senate was up for debate. Then they said the senate was unnecessary under the "Arizona plan" of government; that it is a sort of fifth wheel to the government wagon; and that an immense sum could be saved the taxpayers by its abolition.

It was also argued that this is the best possible time to do the work. It was pointed out that there is already considerable bad feeling between the house and senate, and it was believed that if the bill were presented the house would swallow the bait and proceed to adopt the bill under the belief that it was "putting one over" on the other legislative body.

But it chanced that the house heard of the scheme. Probably it would not have passed the bill under any circumstances, although a good many of the members in that body are in favor of it. But yesterday the facts in the case became known to the house and then it was all off. So, it may be set down that Arizona was safe to worry with two legislative bodies for the present at least.

It is beginning to look much as though there will be an equal suffrage election this fall, and as was to have been expected, considerable politics will be injected into the proposition.

El Paso, Thursday, June 20, 1912.

Forecasts.
El Paso and vicinity—Fair and warm tonight and Friday.

New Mexico—Fair and warmer tonight and Friday.

West Texas—Generally fair tonight and Friday; warmer.

Local Data.
El Paso Readings. Today. Yesterday

Barometer (sea level)	29.94	29.94
Dry thermometer	81	81
Wet thermometer	59	59
Wet point	43	43
Relative humidity	44	26
Direction of wind	E SE	E SE
Velocity of wind	14	11
State of weather	Clear	Clear
Rainfall last 24 hours	00	00
Max. Temp. last 24 hours	81	81
Min. Temp. last 24 hours	64	64

River.
Height of river this morning above first zero mark, 12.3 feet. Fall in last 24 hours, 0.4 foot.

confirmed by the senate. No bills were passed in either house.

House for Senate Suicide Bill.
It is only just now, but it is none the less interesting for having been delayed, that the real motive behind the "senate suicide" bill, as it is popularly known, or in other words the bill providing for a constitutional amendment providing for the abolition of the upper house of the legislature, has come to light. And the facts have become known through the revelations made by two members of that august body.

The men back of the bill, it must be explained, are senators Worsley and Roberts, who, with senator Slims, who, with Roberts, is from Coconino county, and senators H. R. Wood and M. G. Cunniff, of Yavapai county, here is the story:

The only man who has been open and above board in giving his real reason for supporting the bill is Worsley. Worsley calls himself a Democrat, but he believes in government ownership, the community of interest idea, and all the other socialistic notions, including the abolition of senators. But with the other senators it is different.

The scheme is not, in fact, a scheme to abolish the senate, except in name. Under the plan there would be simply a legislature, consisting of one house; and the plan is to send out all the so-called weaker members of the lower body and substitute in their stead the "brighter" intellects of the upper branch, meaning the men back of the senate bill. These men, it is stated on the highest possible authority, have planned to be elected to the legislature and to control the legislative affairs of the state when there should be but one house.

These were their private arguments, though as a matter of course these were not the arguments used when the senate was up for debate. Then they said the senate was unnecessary under the "Arizona plan" of government; that it is a sort of fifth wheel to the government wagon; and that an immense sum could be saved the taxpayers by its abolition.

It was also argued that this is the best possible time to do the work. It was pointed out that there is already considerable bad feeling between the house and senate, and it was believed that if the bill were presented the house would swallow the bait and proceed to adopt the bill under the belief that it was "putting one over" on the other legislative body.

But it chanced that the house heard of the scheme. Probably it would not have passed the bill under any circumstances, although a good many of the members in that body are in favor of it. But yesterday the facts in the case became known to the house and then it was all off. So, it may be set down that Arizona was safe to worry with two legislative bodies for the present at least.

Calisher's

The Great Center of Attraction

Calisher's

Mammoth Bankrupt Sale

Day by day, El Pasoans are realizing more and more what this sale means to them—the unprecedented savings on meritorious merchandise appeals most to those who know good from indifferent qualities—and job lots purchased for sale purposes. You know the "Calisher" standard of quality . . . these immense stocks now being sold represent only the very best grades of fine merchandise, and are being sold at prices impossible heretofore. This is the reason so many are coming here day after day, buying first in this section, then in another, supplying future needs as well as present, for such values will surely never occur again.

WANTED!

English and Spanish speaking Salespeople for all departments. Permanent positions to those who are competent, polite and attentive.

APPLY AT ONCE TO MANAGER

Especial Attention Is Directed to the impressive values in Women's and Children's Suits, Dresses, Coats, Skirts, etc.—In Rugs, Curtains, Draperies, Brass Beds, etc.—In housekeeping linens—there never was a better opportunity for supplying your needs for years to come.

The management earnestly requests that any inattention on the part of salespeople—any misrepresentation—any lack of courtesy, be immediately reported to the floor managers. We want to have

Calisher's

Every Customer Satisfied

Calisher's

ATTEMPTING ESCAPE, PRISONER IS DROWNED

In attempting to make his escape Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, John Mapes, aged 24 years, a city prisoner working with the rock pile gang in vicinity of Hart's mill, jumped into the river and was drowned. Bipes, a fellow prisoner who was trying to escape with him, after he had vainly struggled against the currents of the river, returned and gave himself up.

The body of Mapes washed over the dam at that point in full view of his companions and the . . . in charge of the squad, who were powerless to render assistance, on account of the depth and rapidity of the stream. The body was not recovered.

Mapes was recently fined $200 in the police court on a charge of vagrancy, and was serving out his time.

and will declare for it as a matter of course.

Has Chance to Win Easily.
In the light of these circumstances, with all three parties in its favor, it would seem that suffrage would be sure to win. But that is by no means certain. In fact, the chances seem to be, as one views them now, it would go the other way. And the reason is that the business men generally are opposed to the proposition.

However, it cannot be said suffrage would be defeated. It is more than likely to win in this county, where there is a different class of voters from most of the other parts of the state, but in the mining sections it probably will not be so well received.

With the signing of the election bill by governor Hunt, politics, which is never quite quiescent in Arizona, is beginning to show signs of considerable activity. Already several names are being discussed as probable candidates and more will be sprung within a short time.

Opposition to Hunt.
There is no sort of doubt that governor Hunt, at least, will have to fight for a renomination. This may be true also of some of the other state officers, but it is certain so far as Hunt is concerned. He will have at least one candidate in the field against him, maybe two, or possibly three.

The man who is regarded as certain to run against him is Dr. H. A. Hughes, of this city. Hughes was in the race last fall for a time. He entered the race, however, and withdrew before the end of the contest. But at that he received quite a respectable number of votes, although he had announced two weeks before the balloting that he was out of it.

Another man who is frequently discussed as senator Worsley, mentioned above as one of the authors of the "senate suicide" bill. Worsley and Hunt are as one on many political matters, and while Hunt has built up an effective machine, and would have that immense advantage, he would find Worsley, if the latter should decide to run, no mean antagonist.

Worsley is as socialistic as Hunt and is possessed of vastly more ability. He has had vast experience in campaign work and some of his friends confidently assert can pull down a nomination if he decides to make the race.

The third man on the list is Reese M. Ling, national committeeman, and one of the candidates last fall for the nomination for United States senator. Ling is a conservative and by all odds the best qualified man of the three for the position. The fact that he is extremely strong in the north makes him formidable, and while he has never said openly that he would be a candidate, it is known that considerable work has already been done in his behalf. Ling wants to go to the senate and it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that he may decide to use the governorship as a stepping stone to that position.

GRANDSON OF MILLIONAIRE
Guillermo Terrazas, said to be a grandson of Gen. Luis Terrazas, a millionaire of Chihuahua, was arrested by the police Wednesday night, and docked at the police station on a charge of carrying a pistol. He furnished a $200 bond and was released.

and will declare for it as a matter of course.

Has Chance to Win Easily.
In the light of these circumstances, with all three parties in its favor, it would seem that suffrage would be sure to win. But that is by no means certain. In fact, the chances seem to be, as one views them now, it would go the other way. And the reason is that the business men generally are opposed to the proposition.

However, it cannot be said suffrage would be defeated. It is more than likely to win in this county, where there is a different class of voters from most of the other parts of the state, but in the mining sections it probably will not be so well received.

With the signing of the election bill by governor Hunt, politics, which is never quite quiescent in Arizona, is beginning to show signs of considerable activity. Already several names are being discussed as probable candidates and more will be sprung within a short time.

Opposition to Hunt.
There is no sort of doubt that governor Hunt, at least, will have to fight for a renomination. This may be true also of some of the other state officers, but it is certain so far as Hunt is concerned. He will have at least one candidate in the field against him, maybe two, or possibly three.

The man who is regarded as certain to run against him is Dr. H. A. Hughes, of this city. Hughes was in the race last fall for a time. He entered the race, however, and withdrew before the end of the contest. But at that he received quite a respectable number of votes, although he had announced two weeks before the balloting that he was out of it.

Another man who is frequently discussed as senator Worsley, mentioned above as one of the authors of the "senate suicide" bill. Worsley and Hunt are as one on many political matters, and while Hunt has built up an effective machine, and would have that immense advantage, he would find Worsley, if the latter should decide to run, no mean antagonist.

Worsley is as socialistic as Hunt and is possessed of vastly more ability. He has had vast experience in campaign work and some of his friends confidently assert can pull down a nomination if he decides to make the race.

The third man on the list is Reese M. Ling, national committeeman, and one of the candidates last fall for the nomination for United States senator. Ling is a conservative and by all odds the best qualified man of the three for the position. The fact that he is extremely strong in the north makes him formidable, and while he has never said openly that he would be a candidate, it is known that considerable work has already been done in his behalf. Ling wants to go to the senate and it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that he may decide to use the governorship as a stepping stone to that position.

GRANDSON OF MILLIONAIRE
Guillermo Terrazas, said to be a grandson of Gen. Luis Terrazas, a millionaire of Chihuahua, was arrested by the police Wednesday night, and docked at the police station on a charge of carrying a pistol. He furnished a $200 bond and was released.

HIGH GRADE Feed & Poultry Supplies

W. D. WISE & CO.

Bell 11 Second and Chihuahua Auto 1011

The Cut-Rate WESTERN FURNITURE CO. Our Slogan: "The Western for Saving"
308 SOUTH EL PASO STREET, NEAR OVERLAND

MORE WELLS ARE SUNK IN THE TULAROSA DISTRICT

Tularosa, N. M., June 20.—Isaac Otis is having another well drilled on his homestead east of town, R. H. Richards is doing the work.

P. N. Stephens has finished drilling a well for George Schiller on his homestead west of town and reports that he found a fine stream of water.

H. A. Stephens is here from Alberta, Canada, looking for a location.

A. L. Goakes, who has been here for a week visiting his family, has returned to El Paso.

Toke Tipton has returned to his home at El Paso after a week's visit here with friends.

John Counts spent a day in Alamogordo visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McDonald are here from Los Angeles, Cal., looking over the valley.

George Hyde has returned home from Cloudcroft where he went to sell Walter Hyde's milk cows.

Joe McGuire and niece, Mary Tully are here from Texas. These persons were: Misses Doppie Cooper, Jennie Abbott, Ruth and Dela Potoi, Edith Long, Effie and Orna White, Hazel Briscoe, Maggie Holken, Lillie Dale, Christine Wohlberg, Daisy Rogers, Ellen Osby, Mrs. Nancy Jones, Mrs. J. R. Howell, Mrs. Alvin Linam, Mrs. Carl E. Haynes, Mrs. L. W. Lentz and Mrs. L. O. Norton.

more good where they went to visit relatives.

Mrs. A. J. Sparkes, who has been very sick, is able to be out again.

Dan Harris is at home from Bent on a visit to his wife and daughters, Dora and Nellie.

James Baugon has gone to the San Andreas to look after beef cattle.

A leap year party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Barkness. Refreshments were served of cake and ice cream. Those present were: Misses Mae and Nell Sanders, Dora Harris, Marguerite Prude, Marguerite Gunton, Abbey Meek, Miss Weaver, Vernon and Cuba Clayton, Julia Herford, Will Sanders, P. G. Perry, W. E. Aniba, John Counts, Gold Hommer, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Howell, Mrs. Charlie Mayre and Miss Lillian Myre.

Miss Ethel Maxwell has left for Alamogordo to work in her brother's office.

Mrs. G. T. Gunton and daughter, Marguerite, have left for their home in Alamogordo, after spending several days here as guests of Mrs. J. J. Sanders and daughters.

Hubbard Douglas has gone to the Rio Grande to look after business.

Vernon and Cuba Clayton spent a day in Alamogordo visiting friends.

Dr. J. E. Campton has left for Carrizozo to transact business.

James Abbott spent a day in Mesquite.

Mrs. Charlie Mayre and daughter, Lillian, were up from La Luz as guests of D. D. Barkness.

Cassius Clay is here from Mesilla Park where he has been attending agricultural college, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Clay.

T. M. Wellis is here from El Paso looking over the valley.

J. A. Carroll, jr., has left for El Paso to visit friends.

Miss Marguerite Prude spent a day in Alamogordo, visiting friends.

Rev. George Girardin and wife were here from Alamogordo. Mr. Girardin preached in Union church.

Charles F. Hunt returned from California Thursday afternoon on the Golden State limited.

Don't pay too much attention to little things or the big things may slip by while you are fiddling around.

IS YOUR STOMACH BAD?

Then don't neglect it. Your health is at stake. A short course of this family remedy,

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

will sweeten and tone the digestive system and keep you well.